

aiming for a better future

Enrolment Form

The LCO Centre provides an environment conducive to supplementing existing IT skills levels, and increasing awareness of the principles of free/open-source software using the GNU/Linux operating system. It is geared at groups of no more than six to eight participants at one time, and offers comfortable relaxed accommodation on Chambres d'hotes basis. All courses are conducted using the English Language.

Prerequisites

Linux Corps courses are grouped into three categories - Novice, Intermediate and Advanced.

Novices are expected to have a basic literacy in IT, i.e. Ability to use a keyboard, an understanding of file systems, and practical experience with some of the following types of software packages - word processing, graphic image manipulation, web browser, and email.

For workshops classed as "Intermediate", in order for participants to gain the maximum benefit, it is recommended that those wishing to participate should have some familiarity with the operation of GNU/Linux server, and have minimally configured such a system.

Workshops considered as "Advanced" require participants to have a good grasp of the concepts and be experienced in the usage of GNU/Linux systems and networking.

Please refer to the Linux Corps website http://go.linuxcoaching.org for full details, fees and schedule of the courses before completing this form.
